Innovation in...

variety management, crop protection, farming systems, soil management, precision farming and business strategy.

FREE and open to ALL. BOOKING ESSENTIAL Register online at niab.com

Access the latest independent arable advice and research with a focus on future developments and the role of technology on-farm. The NIAB TAG National Agronomy Centre (NAC) Open Days work with partners and collaborators from across our industry, demonstrating a range of agronomy and policy solutions including variety choice, fungicide options, cover cropping, grain marketing and soil management.

The events are free to attend with a mix of marquee exhibits and field based demonstrations that enable attendees to interact with researchers and other industry experts.

In addition to our main event partners, a range of other research organisations and industry experts will be on hand including Openfield, AHDB, CFE, NFU, GWCT, ADAS, IBERS – Aberystwyth, SIP and TMAF, with others to be announced.

More information, including programme of events, is available at www.niab.com

In 2015, over 90% of visitors planned to follow up an item covered at these events.

Over 85% would change something on-farm as a direct result of attending these events.

Open Days are attended mainly by farmers and their agronomists.

NIAB TAG
National Agronomy Centre

The National Agronomy Centre (NAC) initiative is an ongoing commitment by NIAB TAG, in association with a range of industry partners, to promote best practice for profitable, sustainable and efficient arable crop production. The initiative supports specific research objectives and communicates openly funded research for the benefit and improvement of UK crop productivity. The NAC platform is supported by The Morley Agricultural Foundation.
